Expanded Functions for Dental Auxiliaries

“Amalgam and Resin Restorative Techniques”

Spring 2015 Weekend Classes

Course Content:
An orientation and review session will be held on the Friday evening, February 13, followed on Saturday, February 14 with a course entrance exam. The test will be administered with both written and practical testing methods. Due to the advanced nature of this dental assisting course, an adequate knowledge of anatomy, terminology and instrumentation is essential for successful participation. It is mandatory to attend the first weekend in order to continue with the course. Failure to take or pass either entrance exam will result in a withdraw, and a $450.00 fee will be assessed to cover non-recoupable costs. The remaining $900.00 will be credited towards a future Expanded Functions (EFDA) program. No refunds will be issued for participants who failed the entrance exam.

In the remaining instructional sessions students will receive training in terminology, anatomy, rubber dam technique, resin and amalgam restorative techniques for Class I, II, III, IV and V restorations, as well as the necessary matrix technique for amalgam restorative techniques for Class I, II, III, IV and V restorations, as well as the necessary matrix technique for amalgam restorative techniques. The course syllabus and all study materials will be sent by FedEx to each fully paid participant approximately two weeks prior to the first session. Each student will need a 3-ring binder for their study materials. To secure enrollment in this program, please register online!
